

PRESIDENT CALLS MILITIA OF ALL THE STATES FOR DUTY ALONG MEXICAN BORDER; REJECTS CARRANZA'S DEMAND TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

WILSON WILL NOT WITHDRAW FORCES FROM OVER BORDER

Note Will Go Forward to Carranza Rejecting Demand for Evacuation.

MILITIAMEN ARE ON THE MOVE

More Than 100,000 Who Will Be Sent to the Border, are Preparing for Active Service. Navy Also is Sending Vessels Into the Trouble Zone.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—While the whole country was still today with the mobilization of the national guard for border duty President Wilson directed that his reply rejecting Carranza's demand for the recall of American troops from Mexico go forward immediately.

In refusing to withdraw the troops the United States reaffirms the friendly intentions of the United States toward the de facto government in Mexico and sharply rebuffs General Carranza for charges of bad faith in his communication to the United States.

President Wilson's firm resolve to keep the armed forces of the United States in Mexico until such time as the Mexican government police the border region so thoroughly that bandit raids into American territory are improbable is understood to be clearly stated in the note.

Whether the suggestion of the Democratic platform plank that intervention might be undertaken as a last resort was also communicated is not known.

Secretary Lansing announced that the note would be dispatched during the day but would not discuss its terms or say how it would be transmitted. It had been planned to send it by special messenger following the precedent set by Carranza in transmitting his own demands. Several developments along the border and General Trevino's warning to General Pershing, however, caused the violation of this plan to be delayed and there were indications that the reply would go by telegraph to Special Agent Rodgers in Mexico City for delivery to General Carranza. Mr. Lansing indicated that the text might be made public here tonight.

While these diplomatic steps were in progress a force of national guardsmen which will not be less than 100,000 and may exceed that number by many thousands was being mustered into service of the United States. Governors of all states had replied before noon today to instructions sent last night that their allotment of troops be immediately called out. In each instance Secretary Baker was informed that the orders had been given and the men were en route and proceeding to their state mobilization points.

From both coasts also additional naval vessels were under orders to proceed to Mexican waters for the relief of Americans who may gather from the interior. Light craft and transports are only engaged in this service. If necessary they will be able to go up shallow water after refugees. Considerable anxiety is felt for the safety of Americans of whom there still are about 5,000 in Mexico, including 1,000 in the capital.

During the day Misses Atterdon and Mexican ambassador designated, transmitted to Secretary Lansing an official report from his government that a clash occurred yesterday at Mazatlan between a battalion of men from an American gunboat in the harbor and Mexican soldiers who ordered the Americans not to land. The report said a drunken Japanese had precipitated the firing in which three Mexicans were wounded. Three American officers who had been under arrest were released after the misunderstanding was cleared up. Later a formal request from General Carranza was transmitted, asking that no men from American warships be permitted to land, even unarmed, during the present disturbed state of public opinion.

Admiral Winslow is trying to reach the Annapolis by radio for a report on the incident. Her wireless plant is of short range and attempts are being made to relay an inquiry to other ships that may be closer to her. Instructions to naval commanders in Mexican waters have been to allow no shore liberty and to land only such men ashore as is necessary to get supplies and mail.

PERSHING PLANS A DASH TO CAPTURE RAILROAD

American Commander. It is Believed, Will Strike Quickly, if Necessary.

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 19.—Notwithstanding the threat of General Trevino, the Mexican commander, to attack him if he moved in any direction except toward the border, General Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary force in Mexico, is said to be quietly laying plans for quick dashes north and south at the first sign of hostilities.

His plans, it is believed by observers, are to gain possession of the Mexico Northwestern railroad, which practically commands the territory adjacent to his line of communications.

General Pershing's men slept on their arms last night.

The American commander is in receipt of information daily regarding the de facto Mexican government troop movements.

YUCATAN DECLARES WAR.

GALVESTON, Tex., June 19.—The Mexican government in Yucatan has issued a proclamation ordering all Americans out of Mexico and declaring a state of war existing between the two countries, according to passengers arriving here today on the Norwegian steamer Nils, from Progreso.

Americans and other foreigners are being taken on board an American gunboat at Progreso. Great excitement is said to prevail.

GET A DESERTER

Smithfield Officers Unwittingly Apprehend a U. S. Army Man.

Smithfield officers unknowingly arrested a United States army member who has escaped from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., when they picked up Orville Liddy, alias Orville Denelson, last week. Officers Turner and Arlison arrested Liddy at the home of a family named Anderson. Liddy had given a girl there $17 of his money to keep, telling her that for all he knew the officers were robbers. He was prevented from giving her ten commemorative books and in one of these the constable found an entry giving the date of the man's enlistment in the army and the time of his discharge from a military prison.

One of the officers had a picture of a man wanted by the government for escaping from the Fort Leavenworth, Kan. prison, and when he compared it with Liddy it was found to be his photograph. A reward of $100 was offered for the deserter.

READY TO START

Well-Equipped Company Has Two Wagons on Ground at Connellville.

The Well-Equipped Company of Altoona, which recently received contracts to build a number of new county roads, has two wagons and a wagon-load of other material at Connellville. With this tremendous equipment on hand, work on the new road is not likely to be pushed very rapidly. Travelers over the awful Pennsylvania road are more discouraged than ever at the prospect of early improvement.

The Pennsylvania road never was in worse shape than at present. It is nearly impassable at some points and at no point is there anything resembling a good stretch of road.

CRUSADE IS STARTED TO KEEP YOUNG BOYS OUT OF POOL ROOMS

At the direction of Mayor Marlette, City Detective W. Mitchell today began a crusade to enforce the act prohibiting boys under 18 years from entering pool rooms and bowling alleys. Notice was served upon the proprietors of all such places that under no circumstances must this law be violated in the future. It has come to the mayor's ears that boys considerably under this limit are permitted to loaf in pool rooms and patronize the tables.

The proprietors are all in possession of copies of the act regulating their places and so cannot plead ignorance of the law. A fine of from $100

GUARD WILL MOVE TO MOUNT GRETNA ON NEXT SATURDAY

Companies Will Assemble at the Various Armories by Thursday.

UNDER CANVAS BY MONDAY

Orders Issued from the Adjutant General's Office Allow Guardsmen Plenty of Time to Mobilize and Prepare to Leave for the Front.

By Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, June 19.—Orders were issued from the office of the adjutant general today calling on the Pennsylvania national guard with the exception of the Ninth and Thirtieth Infantry and the independent battalions to assemble in the armories of the various commands on Thursday and to move to Mount Gretna, the state camp ground on Saturday.

All commands are expected to be under canvas by Monday morning.

SECOND BRIGADE ACTIVE.

PITTSBURGH, June 19.—General Logan, commanding the Second Brigade, has notified the various commands before he received the mobilization order and details were at work in many armories this morning going over equipment and completing other arrangements.

An ordinance was introduced in the city council this afternoon providing for the payment of regular salaries to all city employees who are members of the guard during the entire time of their service.

MASSACHUSETTS IS READY.

BOSTON, June 19.—Members of the Massachusetts National Guard assembled at their armories throughout the state today in preparation for service on the Mexican border.

Many of the officers and men were notified by telephone during the night and early today the militia summons was sounded on fire alarm in cities where there are armories.

OHIO GETS THE ORDER.

COLUMBUS, O., June 19.—Mobilization orders were sent out today by Adjutant General Benson W. Hough of the Ohio National Guard in accordance with orders received from the War Department following President Wilson's call upon the militia of every state for service along the Mexican border.

Preparation of a camp site at Upper Arlington, five miles northwest of Columbus, was begun today. At this camp will be concentrated 8,000 men of the National Guard, the entire organization with the exception of the First and Seventh regiments and the Ninth battalion, the latter composed of negro troops.

WEST VIRGINIA READY.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 19.—General John C. Bond, commanding the national guard of West Virginia, today selected the Second Infantry as the command which will be taken into the federal service.

Companies of the Second are located as follows: Three in Huntington, two in Parkersburg, two in Charleston and one each in Ravenswood, Spencerville, Welch and Fayetteville. Officers of the medical corps and quartermasters departments are called for duty only in the mobilization, unless they are needed later at the front.

ARIZONA OFFERS.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Aero Club of America announced today that it would do all in its power to aid the United States government in the Mexican crisis by providing aeroplanes and aviators for patrol duty.

FUNSTON SELECTS FORCE.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 19.—It was indicated at headquarters of the southern department today that General Funston would request the War Department to send him first the militia of New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, as he believes he can make practical use immediately of these organizations.

Officers here who witnessed the work of getting the guardsmen of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona into shape expressed the hope that none of the state troops would be sent south until they had been drilled for a time and made particularly fit for field service. Officers at department headquarters do not believe any of the state troops will get to border stations for 10 days and that even then only a small percentage of the total expected would be available for service.

Will Marry Wednesday. John A. Nygren, 29, and Mary B. Hair, 21, both of Dunbar township, secured a license Saturday afternoon and will be married Wednesday afternoon by Rev. B. D. Burgess.

Cavalrymen Guard Long Line Menaced by Mexican Soldiers

OFFICERS LEADING TROOPERS IN MEXICO

The truculent attitude of General Carranza, de facto president of Mexico, asserting that a move by the American troops in any direction but north would invite attack, called attention to the long line of communication and supplies between Columbus, N. M., and Nampulpa, Mex. This line is about 200 miles long. It must be guarded if serious peril to the American forces in Mexico is to be averted. Picture shows officers leading cavalrymen in Mexico in line of march. At their head is Colonel Tate of the Eleventh cavalry.

WILL OPEN RECRUITING OFFICE

Plans Call for Bringing Company Up to Full War Strength. Logan Expects Troopers Will be On Way to Mt. Gretna by Tomorrow Evening.

No move toward mobilization of Company D had been made this morning, pending the arrival of official orders from Adjutant General Stewart. These were expected some time during the day, but in the meantime the local militia followed their usual pursuits.

Captain J. C. Herwick explained that the progress of the order from the war department to the governor and thence down the line from the adjutant general to the various brigade commanders, regimental officers and company captains is a slow one. Considerable time would elapse, he said, before the order reached Connellsville.

Anticipating the call to arms, members of Company D and the Tenth Regiment hospital corps laid off work today, so as to be ready for mobilization. Almost to a man they expressed eagerness to serve on the border. The enthusiasm displayed was in marked contrast to their disinclination to do strike duty when mobilized on May 3, after the Westinghouse strike vote. Captain Herwick was also besieged with applications to enlist.

After orders to mobilize are received Second Lieutenant John L. Robinson will open a recruiting office, probably in D. L. McCormick's office, and all candidates will be examined and the company recruited to its full war strength of 150 men. The company roll is now 64.

Company D's ability to mobilize quickly was demonstrated when the call came to be ready for duty at East Pittsburgh. At that time the men were gotten together in a few hours and quartered at the armory for nearly a week.

"If a call came for a quick mobilization," said Captain Herwick, "I would not hesitate to have the fire alarm whistle blown to get the men together. We could do that, you know."

Captain Herwick and the two lieutenants, R. S. Morton and John L. Robinson, kept in close touch with each other today. The latter was in Uniontown, where he kept tab on the

NEW HIGH SCHOOL SITE IS VISITED BY VIEWERS

Condemnation Proceedings are Progressing at Instance of the School Board.

The new high school site was viewed this morning by County Viewers W. H. Binns of Fayette City, J. V. E. Ellis of Uniontown, and F. D. Munson of this city. The property owners who could not come to terms with the board were present and explained the merits of their cases to the viewers. W. H. Soisson and his lawyer, J. R. Cray of Uniontown, J. R. Showman, and George B. Freed, the owners of the condemned site, and school board members were on the grounds. The hearings will take place in Uniontown about the middle of July.

The first view was on the W. H. Soisson property at 10 o'clock. Mr. Soisson asked $10,500 for his vacant lot which the board sought to purchase for $10,000. The second view was on Mr. Soisson's corner lot for which he asked $13,500 from the school board. At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the viewers went over the George B. Freed property. Mr. Freed first asked $7,500 and school board offered $6,000. Later he is said to have boosted the price to $8,000.

MUST ARGUE CASE

Further Delay in Receivership Action is Denied by Court.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, June 19.—After a motion had been presented to the court today by Attorney W. J. Sturgis and A. F. Cooper for the continuance of the argument on the Thompson receivership case and opposition had been presented by Attorneys Charles A. Tuit and H. S. Dunbar, Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen ordered that the hearing must proceed tomorrow.

He said that when June 20 was fixed as the date for the hearing, it was announced that the argument must be heard at that time. He said that foreign counsel, if unable to be here, could submit briefs in the case.

Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for the J. V. Thompson Creditors' Committee, will not be here tomorrow to argue the Thompson receivership case, on account of being compelled to go to trial in New York with the Guggenheim case.

A continuance for four weeks was asked for.

"We are opposed to this continuance," said Attorney Tuit, who represents Mrs. Elizabeth Kremer, who has a $2,300 claim against Mr. Thompson and who is attacking the validity of the receivership. Mr. Tuit declared the action nothing more than a delay measure.

YARDS ARE ALSO VICTORIOUS

Freight Office loses again, but the boys are improving and will likely make things difficult for other contenders. Somerset Falls Down.

The Connellsville Yards won from the Freight Office at Fayette Field Saturday afternoon, 3-1 without any effort. The Freight Office, however, showed better form than in any other game during the season and may pick up in time to pull out of the bottom place. The pitching of Lohr for the Freight's left the Yard team to attack. At times his support seemed to weaken and the Yards made the most of the opportunity, launching hits and getting runners across the plate.

The game began at 2 o'clock instead of 3:30 in order that the two teams could witness the game played between Somerset and the Connellsville Shops at South Connellsville. The score:

SUDDEN DEATH Caused by Disease of the Kidneys.

The close connection which exists between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as the kidneys are diseased, arterial tension is increased and the heart functions are attacked. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uronic poisoning occurs and the person dies, and the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.

It is a good insurance against such a risk to send 10 cents for a sample package of "Annie"—the latest discovery of Dr. Pierce. Also send a sample of your water. This will be examined without charge by expert chemists at Dr. Pierce's Medical Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. When you suffer from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, it's time to write Dr. Pierce, describe your symptoms and get his medical opinion without charge—absolutely free. This "Annie" of Doctor Pierce's is found to be 37 times more active than lithium, for it dissolves uric acid in the system as hot water does sugar.

Simply ask for Dr. Pierce's Annie Tablets. There can be no imitation. Every package of "Annie" is sure to be Dr. Pierce's. You will find the signature on the package just as you do on Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for blood and stomach.

WORRY, DESPONDENCY.
Kidney disease is suspected by medical men when patients complain of backache or suffer with irregular urination, distended, too frequent, scanty or painful passages. The general symptoms are rheumatic pains or neuralgia, headache, dizzy spells, irritability, despondency, weakness and general misery. Worry is a frequent cause and sometimes a symptom of kidney disease. Thousands have testified to immediate relief from these symptoms after using Dr. Pierce's Annie Tablets.

Fashions.

There are fashions in medicine as well as in millinery. The old time cathartic pills with their harsh drastic effects have gone out, and it is high time they had. In their place we have the mild laxatives and gentle cathartics of which Chamberlain's Tablets is one of the most popular. When the proper dose is taken the effort of these tablets is so agreeable and so natural that you do not realize that it has been produced by a medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets also strengthen the stomach and improve the digestion. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Saving the Bottle Fed Baby

The chance of a bottle-fed baby to survive the heated season as against a breast-fed baby is about one in seven according to statistics collected by Commissioner of Health, Samuel G. Dixon. The chance of survival of the bottle-fed baby is in the hands of the consumer, together with the care given the bottle and the nipple.

The first essential thing is to secure milk from a dairy producing milk under absolutely clean conditions, and one that cools milk immediately after milking. Second, this milk should be kept cool until it reaches the consumer and should immediately be placed upon the ice in the consumer's dwelling.

The attending physician should outline for the mother the milk mixture to be given the baby. His directions should be followed implicitly, both as to the proportion of cream, skim milk, water, and sugar of milk and as to the hours of feeding. The milk should be kept upon the ice until the hour of feeding for the baby has arrived. It should then be gently warmed to body heat and served. Never reheat milk for the baby; always throw away what remains in the bottle, and have an entirely fresh supply for each nursing.

BATTING THE GERMAN.

It is a very debatable question whether the Democrats will get anywhere in the present campaign through their efforts to make a pro-German out of Hughes. President Wilson has taboos attacks upon the Republican party for going to the Supreme Court for his candidate. That was too flimsy for an issue. Hughes was nominated for President, not because of his presence on the bench, but in spite of it. He was a place of high esteem among members of his party on the strength of his achievements in public life before donning the ermine.

There fact that Hughes is acceptable to voters of German descent will not handicap his candidacy. It will indicate a genuine neutrality in the White House if he is elected. His candidacy, if it is endorsed by the element, will certainly meet cordial response with those serious-minded persons who have viewed with uneasiness the pronounced pro-British spirit that has been apparent in Washington since the war began.

Are the Democrats making a cheap bid for the support of the big financial interests they have tried so diligently to ruin? Wall Street interests are certainly not pro-German, so if Democratic campaign arguments are to be taken seriously it must be assumed that the Money Devil, so often roundly abused by the Democrats, has gone over to the enemy. The Democrats cannot make Hughes pro-German and the candidate of the plutocrats in the same campaign.

The Courier does not believe the efforts to discredit Hughes because of the support given him by those of German descent will avail the Wilson ticket. Rather, it will focus attention on the fact that the Wilson administration has not been strictly neutral. Flagrant violations of international law on the part of Great Britain and her allies were virtually ignored until public sentiment forced the administration to enter a protest, first feeble, and later somewhat stronger.

There has not been an instant since the war began that the administration was not in a position to force the recognition of American rights by Great Britain. The mere threat of an embargo against the exports of war materials would have brought the Allies to their knees. This powerful weapon in the hands of the administration has been persistently ignored. Only war, or the threat of it, could bring recognition from Germany. Peaceful means would have insured instant respect from the Allies, yet in the face of this, the administration has permitted American mails to be seized and searched, American commerce to be checked and throttled, American rights to be flagrantly ignored and trampled upon.

The Wilson administration has had one code for Germany and another for the Allies. It has not been neutral; it has been flagrantly pro-Ally. Regardless of their individual sympathies, the American people want the good faith of this nation to be above suspicion. Much has been printed as to the activities of German agents in this country. How much more could be said of the secret influence Great Britain has had with the administration cannot be known. The censorship at Washington, established by the Wilson cabinet, is too complete.

Charles Evans Hughes is an undiluted American. Efforts to discredit his candidacy because the support of those of German descent will avail naught. Such campaign methods deserve a stinging rebuke. An issue of race prejudice does not deserve serious consideration in such a loud as this.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

The Pennsylvania Public Service Commission is engaged upon an investigation at this time which should prove fruitful of good results. It is having a survey made of the grade crossings in the state with a view to devising plans for their elimination. Whatever these plans may be their general adoption will entail a large expense. This will of necessity fall primarily upon the railroads and the townships or municipalities in which the crossings are located. If, however, the saving of human life is assured by such expenditure the amount of expense, however large, will be justified.

The railroads have made every effort to impress upon the minds of the traveling public the dangers of grade crossings, but the indifference with which warnings are received and the manner in which they are disregarded in spite of the fatal consequences which so often follow, make it plain that nothing short of complete elimination will solve the problem. So long as the crossings are allowed to remain just so long will incalculable and foolishly persons take chances in needless traffic over them with the usual rate of fatalities.

Automobiles having come into such general use crossing dangers have multiplied in proportion, largely because automobile drivers are inclined to take greater risks than drivers of horse-drawn vehicles ever did. Both have been afforded so persistently that drastic measures are demanded to prevent a further needless loss of human life.

BY-PRODUCT VALUES.

The creation of large numbers of by-product ovens is beginning to be disturbing to established values of all kinds, beginning with the prices of coal and the freight rates on the same, and concluding with the by-products themselves and their prices. The European war is keeping the latter up, but when hostilities cease there will be a drop.

In the meantime, it has been discussed by some interests erecting by-product ovens in Ohio that the coal of that state will not make good coke in by-product ovens any more than any other kind of coals. The builders of the ovens are coming back to the Conneltsville region for their coal, and the freight rate has become a consideration.

In the absence of American merchant marine and the scarcity of foreign bottoms to carry coal through the Panama Canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, the Government has asked for bids for delivery by rail delivery by rail ought to give a decided advantage to the Colorado mines if they compete for the business.

Kentucky
By GEORGE FITZEL
Author of "A Good Old Slave."

Kentucky is one of the warmest American states, not only climatically but politically. It is situated just south of the healthy temperate belt and is separated from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois by the Ohio river, which is often swayed by minority delegates in Kentucky politics.

Kentucky is supposed like a soufflé shoe, and is of medium size, about a No. 10 on an E last. It was section by Daniel Boone with the aid of a knife in 1780, and the Daniel Boone method of settlement is still partially maintained in most parts of the state in all important questions.

Kentucky is a wonderfully fertile region, and huge crops are raised whenever the weather is favorable. The state is full of fast horses, beautiful women, fine whiskey and red hot men. It hasn't much of a population, considering its size. It has twice as much as the early Kentucky had been water-jacketed and kept by the slanting temperature. It has killed such other over-politics in Tennessee and over crops in Texas, and as a recreation in Chicago, but in Kentucky crops politics and industry are all fatal. The result is that in some districts in the Kentucky who dies in his bed his head off is sent upon by the carrier who tries to find the reason.

Kentucky raises more tobacco than any other state, when the night rider doesn't take. The night rider is a sort of human bull weevil which gets into the crops and ruins them with a hoe. It travels in swarms and is brave and fearless wherever its opponent is unarmed. The road is another Kentucky disease which has put a and crying into the population. The road flourishes in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, where the railroads and the public library do not intrude, and is a sort of a

The feud is a sort of family quarrel, equated with shoe-knives.

Four generations family quarrel conducted with shot guns. When one feudist meets another feudist in a narrow alley and the second feudist refuses to retreat the first feudist shoots him. Then the son of the feudist of the first part, and the nephew of the feudist of the first part shoots the son and second feudist of the feudist of the second part and the brother-in-law and uncle by marriage of the feudist of the second part catch the nephew and grandson and all them so full of lead that they have to be taken home in a truck. Taking the quarrel in Kentucky is a piecework is a piecework job. Kentucky has many fine old cities and beautiful plantations. It is noted for its sunshine, its moonshine, its blue grass and its red noses, its mild blue and its whiskey. Making taxed whiskey is a business in Kentucky and making untaxed whiskey is a recreation.

There are many mountains in Kentucky but only one volcano—Colonel Watterston of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

GLOBE THEATRE.

"A MILLION A MINUTE"—A two part Metro attraction, presenting Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Sills, is the attraction today at the Globe. The story of the production is unusually interesting. Philip and Miles Quintance quarrel over the love of Ellen Sheridan, and Miles is rejected, while Philip is successful in his suit. Soon after a son is born, Philip dies, and his widow with her infant son goes to the southland to escape the persecutions of Miles. When Stephen has grown to manhood, his mother dies, after she has told him of Miles' persecutions. Miles amasses a fortune of $10,000,000 and in a whimsical mood wills it to Stephen and Dagmar Lorraine, Miles' ward. Stephen not wishing to meet Miles goes to South Africa and Dagmar is sent to Paris to study music. While there she meets Duke de Beves, who has an unsavory reputation. He makes violent love to Dagmar and obtains her consent to marry her. After the ceremony a woman enters the church carrying a baby, which she says is the son of the Duke. Horrified Dagmar flees from the church and leaves for America. In the will of Miles, Dagmar and Stephen must marry in order to receive the fortune. The marriage must take place before midnight of the following May 31 Miles does not know of Dagmar's wedding and dies before her return to America. Stephen is notified of the contents of the strange will. He decides he will not take any assistance from his uncle and plans a way out of it. Stephen later meets Dagmar and is charmed by her manner and appearance. At this time he does not know she is the ward of Miles. When her identity is discovered both decide they will not accept a penny of Miles' money and after the clock strikes twelve are married. Tomorrow "Audrey," a five reel Paramount attraction starring Pauline Frederick, the beautiful Famous Player star, will be shown. "Audrey" is distinctively different from any character which Frederick has ever played on the screen.

LET THE CHILDREN DIG.

Nothing Pleases Small Ones Better Than a Garden Patch.

If you live out of town or spend your summers there, let your children study nature first hand in their own gardens. Nothing will teach them more quickly of trees, flowers, birds, and vegetables than the planning and developing of a small garden.

Of course each child can personally manage only a very small garden. This can be in the form of a bed or in the form of certain possessions at various places in the big family garden. For instance, you might give into one child's keeping a climbing rose over a summer house, a dwarf evergreen in the far corner of the shrubbery border, a row of beans a short one in the vegetable garden and a little patch of flowers in the flower border. In this way the child has a chance unconsciously to study trees, flowers and vegetables.

It is possible, make the child interested in all the details of garden growth. If the child can sketch let him sketch leaves and flowers and roots, seeds and seed pods and all the other parts of the plants he works with. Let him keep a little notebook for his sketches. Without doubt they will prove so interesting as he collects them that they will form the nucleus of an interesting lot of sketches, which he will refer to even when winter has made gardening impossible.

Buy a bird house or two for the child's garden. By watching the chance inhabitants who occupy it from year to year he will become familiar with birds, for his interest in one pair will lead to an interest in all birds. Perhaps an interesting book or two will stimulate the child's desire to garden. There are children's bird books and gardening books and simple guides of all sorts. Then there are botany books, fascinating when mastered in the open, but rather dry work to most children indoors.

Let the child have possession of the fruits of his garden—vegetables, flowers or fruits, whatever they are. It is a mistake to give a child anything, even a raspberry bush, unless the gift is free and complete.

YOUR SHOES.

How to Take Care of Your Nether Garb and Keep Neat.

If it were possible to lay in a spring and fall supply of, say, three or four pairs of shoes we would give our feet a good chance of always looking neat. However, it is possible on a more limited number to accomplish the same end if we are careful with those we do buy.

In the first place, it is much more advisable to pay a good price for one pair than to buy two pairs of cheap shoes. Cheap shoes get out of shape so quickly they are never an economy. Cheap shoe leather is dear at any price. To preserve the shape of a shoe you must have a pair of trees, and immediately you take off your shoes put them on the trees. Never allow your shoes to run down at the heel. As soon as they show the least signs of wear send them to be fixed. If you wear them until they are right down at the heel it is not only bad for your feet and looks most slovenly and untidy, but you get them so out of shape that no amount of subsequent repairing will put them right again.

If you happen to get your shoes wet don't put them near the radiator to dry. This cracks the leather and makes them hard. Put them on the trees and let them stand somewhere warm and dry. Wait until they are quite dry before having them cleaned.

You can keep patent leather shoes from cracking by rubbing vaseline into them before wearing them for the first time.

A CENSORED LADY

American Author Whose Book Has Been Suppressed.

WAS AT FRONT TRENCHES.

One of the Four Women War Correspondents Sent Out by the Biggest Magazine Gives Her Definition of War—Describes Her Impressions Eloquently.

When the editor sent four women correspondents to the great war because he believed that "the big story of a war is never at the front, but in the hospitals and in the homes, that war is largely a woman's affair, and woman, I think, best understand the little things that go to make up the big story," Mary Roberts Rinehart, trained nurse, wife of a Pittsburgh physician, author of several successful plays and many delectable stories, was one of the women picked by the magazine.

She interviewed both Queen Mary of England and the king and queen of the Belgians. Her description of returning to her toilet before presenting herself at La Penne, her quest of shoe buttons in ravaged Belgium and her final transfer of those she had from the top of her boots to that section most prominent below her gown when she sat is one of the liveliest parts of her story. The latest book has recently been suppressed by the British censor on the ground that it contained information of value to the enemy. When asked what effect the censorship of battle had on her own literary powers Mrs. Rinehart replied:

"I do not know how other writers are affected, but I could do nothing at the front. I wrote the interview with the king of the Belgians there and ruined a really fine opportunity. Of course I have had no newspaper training. But that was not the only trouble. For me writing has two phases, each distinct from the other. One is receiving and absorbing impressions; the other is giving them out. And between the two there must be a lapse of time to give me perspective, to let me see the 'high light,' as it were—in other words, to be able to write. It is a matter of proportion as all writing is. That is why I think that the real literature of the war will come after the world is once more at peace.

"Once under a great strain I did write something that reflected my attitude of mind. I had just been through a bombardment by aeroplanes, and I wrote that night with cold hands and a hot head my definition of war. It is this:

"War is not two great armies meeting in a clash and frenzy of battle. It is much more than that. War is a boy carried on a stretcher, looking up at God's blue sky with bewildered eyes that are soon to close; war is a woman carrying a child that has been wounded by a shell; war is a spirit of horses tied in burning buildings and waiting for death; war is the flower of a man torn, battered, hungry, bleeding, up to his knees in icy water; war is an old woman burning a candle before the Master Doctors for the son she has given for king and country!"

Home Suggestions.
Many latitudes waste time and labor pursuing caprices when a clothespin on inside to slide along the line would save both.

Give the average girl a pretty shirt waist or dress bag and see if the best things are not more carefully put away.

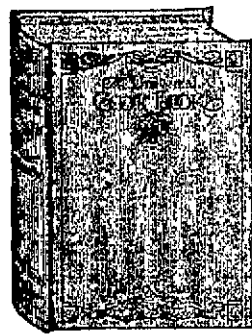

Give the average boy a good looking shoe bag for his closet wall and see how quickly he will display pride in keeping his shoes clean so that the bag will not be soiled.

MUSK IN THE RAW.

It Looks Much Like Axlé & Co., but Has a Worse Odor.

Musk in the raw looks a good deal like axle grease and smells worse. The popular notion that the musk of commerce is obtained from the muskrat is a myth.

That I obtained a somewhat similar perfume from the muskrat, but most of the supply comes from the musk deer, a creature that is carefully reared in India for the sake of the secretion. The secretion is shipped in the crude state and is used not only in the manufacture of the liquid perfume sold as musk, but also in very small quantities to give strength and staying power to many perfumes made from the essential oils of flowers.

Curiously enough, the blossoms of two native plants have a noticeably musky odor. One is the small yellow blossom of a creeping vine known as the musk plant. Its odor is marked and is counterfeited in the commercial perfume called musk. The other is the bloodroot. The pure white blossom of that early spring plant has a distinct though delicate musky odor.

A bean known as the musk bean is a cheap substitute for animal musk—London Standard.

A Satisfactory Test.

"So you want to marry my daughter, eh?" said the old man. "Do you think you have the patience and forbearance to make her a kind and indulgent husband?"

"Surest thing you know," replied the applicant for the son-in-law job. "I can button a collar on a shirt that is half a size larger without getting angry, and—"

"Say no more," interrupted the old man. "She is yours. Take her, my son, and my blessing goes with her."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Praise With a Purpose.

"I heard Mr. Subbiss speaking most beautifully of his wife to another lady on the train just now. Rather unusual in a man these days."

"Not under the circumstances. That was a new cook he was escorting out."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

POLLY AND HER PAIS.—Certainly Pa Had No Kick Coming.—By Cliff Sterrett.

RUMOR IS REVIVED THAT WESTERN MD. WILL BUY READING

For the Purpose of Merging
Two Roads Into One Big System.

THE BIG YARD IMPROVEMENTS

At Rutherford, Pa. Said to Be One of the Preliminary Steps in Plan
Rockefeller, Jr., Makes Inspection
Trip, Giving Rise to New Speculation.

Those having a penchant for dovetailing railroad rumors together are just now engaged in outlining a project for an enlargement of the Western Maryland system. Baltimore is the source of information which is to the effect that the recent rapid advance of Reading railroad stock is due to the fact that the Rockefeller interests intend to obtain control of that road and consolidate it with the Western Maryland railroad. It is believed that this is plausible for within the last few months the Rockefeller interests have made a survey of the Western Maryland system and it was rumored that they intended to connect with the Reading. Reports of the rumored merger are given considerable credence in Baltimore.

It is said that the preliminary steps in the proposed merger will be taken by making extensive improvements in the yards at Rutherford, Pa., to consist of additional truck room to accommodate 800 cars. Work on this yard enlargement began last week. At present the Western Maryland is allowed to send freight shipments into the Rutherford yard and the Reading is allowed to ship its freight over the Western Maryland tracks as far as Hagerstown. An agreement to this effect was made several years ago by the two railroads.

Shortly after Alexander Robertson resigned as president of the Western Maryland, several years ago, the Rockefeller interests secured control of the system. Some months ago John Rockefeller, Jr., made a trip over the lines of the Western Maryland and it was reported at that time that there was a movement on foot to consolidate the Western Maryland and Reading. Now that Rockefeller is making another trip of inspection over the Western Maryland, and to the coal properties owned by the associated interests, the rumor of the consolidation is again revived with some semblance of having real foundation in fact, the full import of which has not yet been announced.

The improvements which the Western Maryland is to make at Connellsville, the enlargement of its piers and port facilities at Baltimore, together with measures being taken to obtain entrance to Washington City indicate that a comprehensive plan of extension of the system is being worked out.

Some persons inclined to speculate on the possibilities believe that the prospective railroad across Greene county will figure in the future expansion of the Western Maryland through a connection at Connellsville by a line to be built to the Monongahela river, the intended eastern terminus of the Wheeling & Eastern.

LOOK FOR PIG IRON RISE

Consumers Anticipate Higher Prices on Next Buying Movement.

Consumers of steel making pig iron in the middle west are taking a careful but exceedingly quiet survey of furnace stocks and are sizing up their own prospective needs with a keen eye upon the immediate future, says The Daily Iron Trade. It is known that stocks of both basic and bessemer iron in the Pittsburgh valley and northern Ohio districts are small, relatively unimportant from the viewpoint of monthly production. They are being reduced steadily but quietly for shipments have been mounting in volume. Some makers have not a pound of free iron on their yards and will have none at all soon.

The next buying movement may find little free bessemer left north of the Ohio river since exports are growing steadily and ocean freight rates are becoming more attractive. Basic production has been cut down appreciably since the last buying of size. Competent market authorities look for prices to be carried even higher than today's quotations on the next movements, signs of which are impending.

Liberty in the tableau. A tall, handsome woman, she made a striking figure as she stood all in white bearing a torch high above her head. On the steps below stood the women who represented the twelve states where women have full suffrage.
